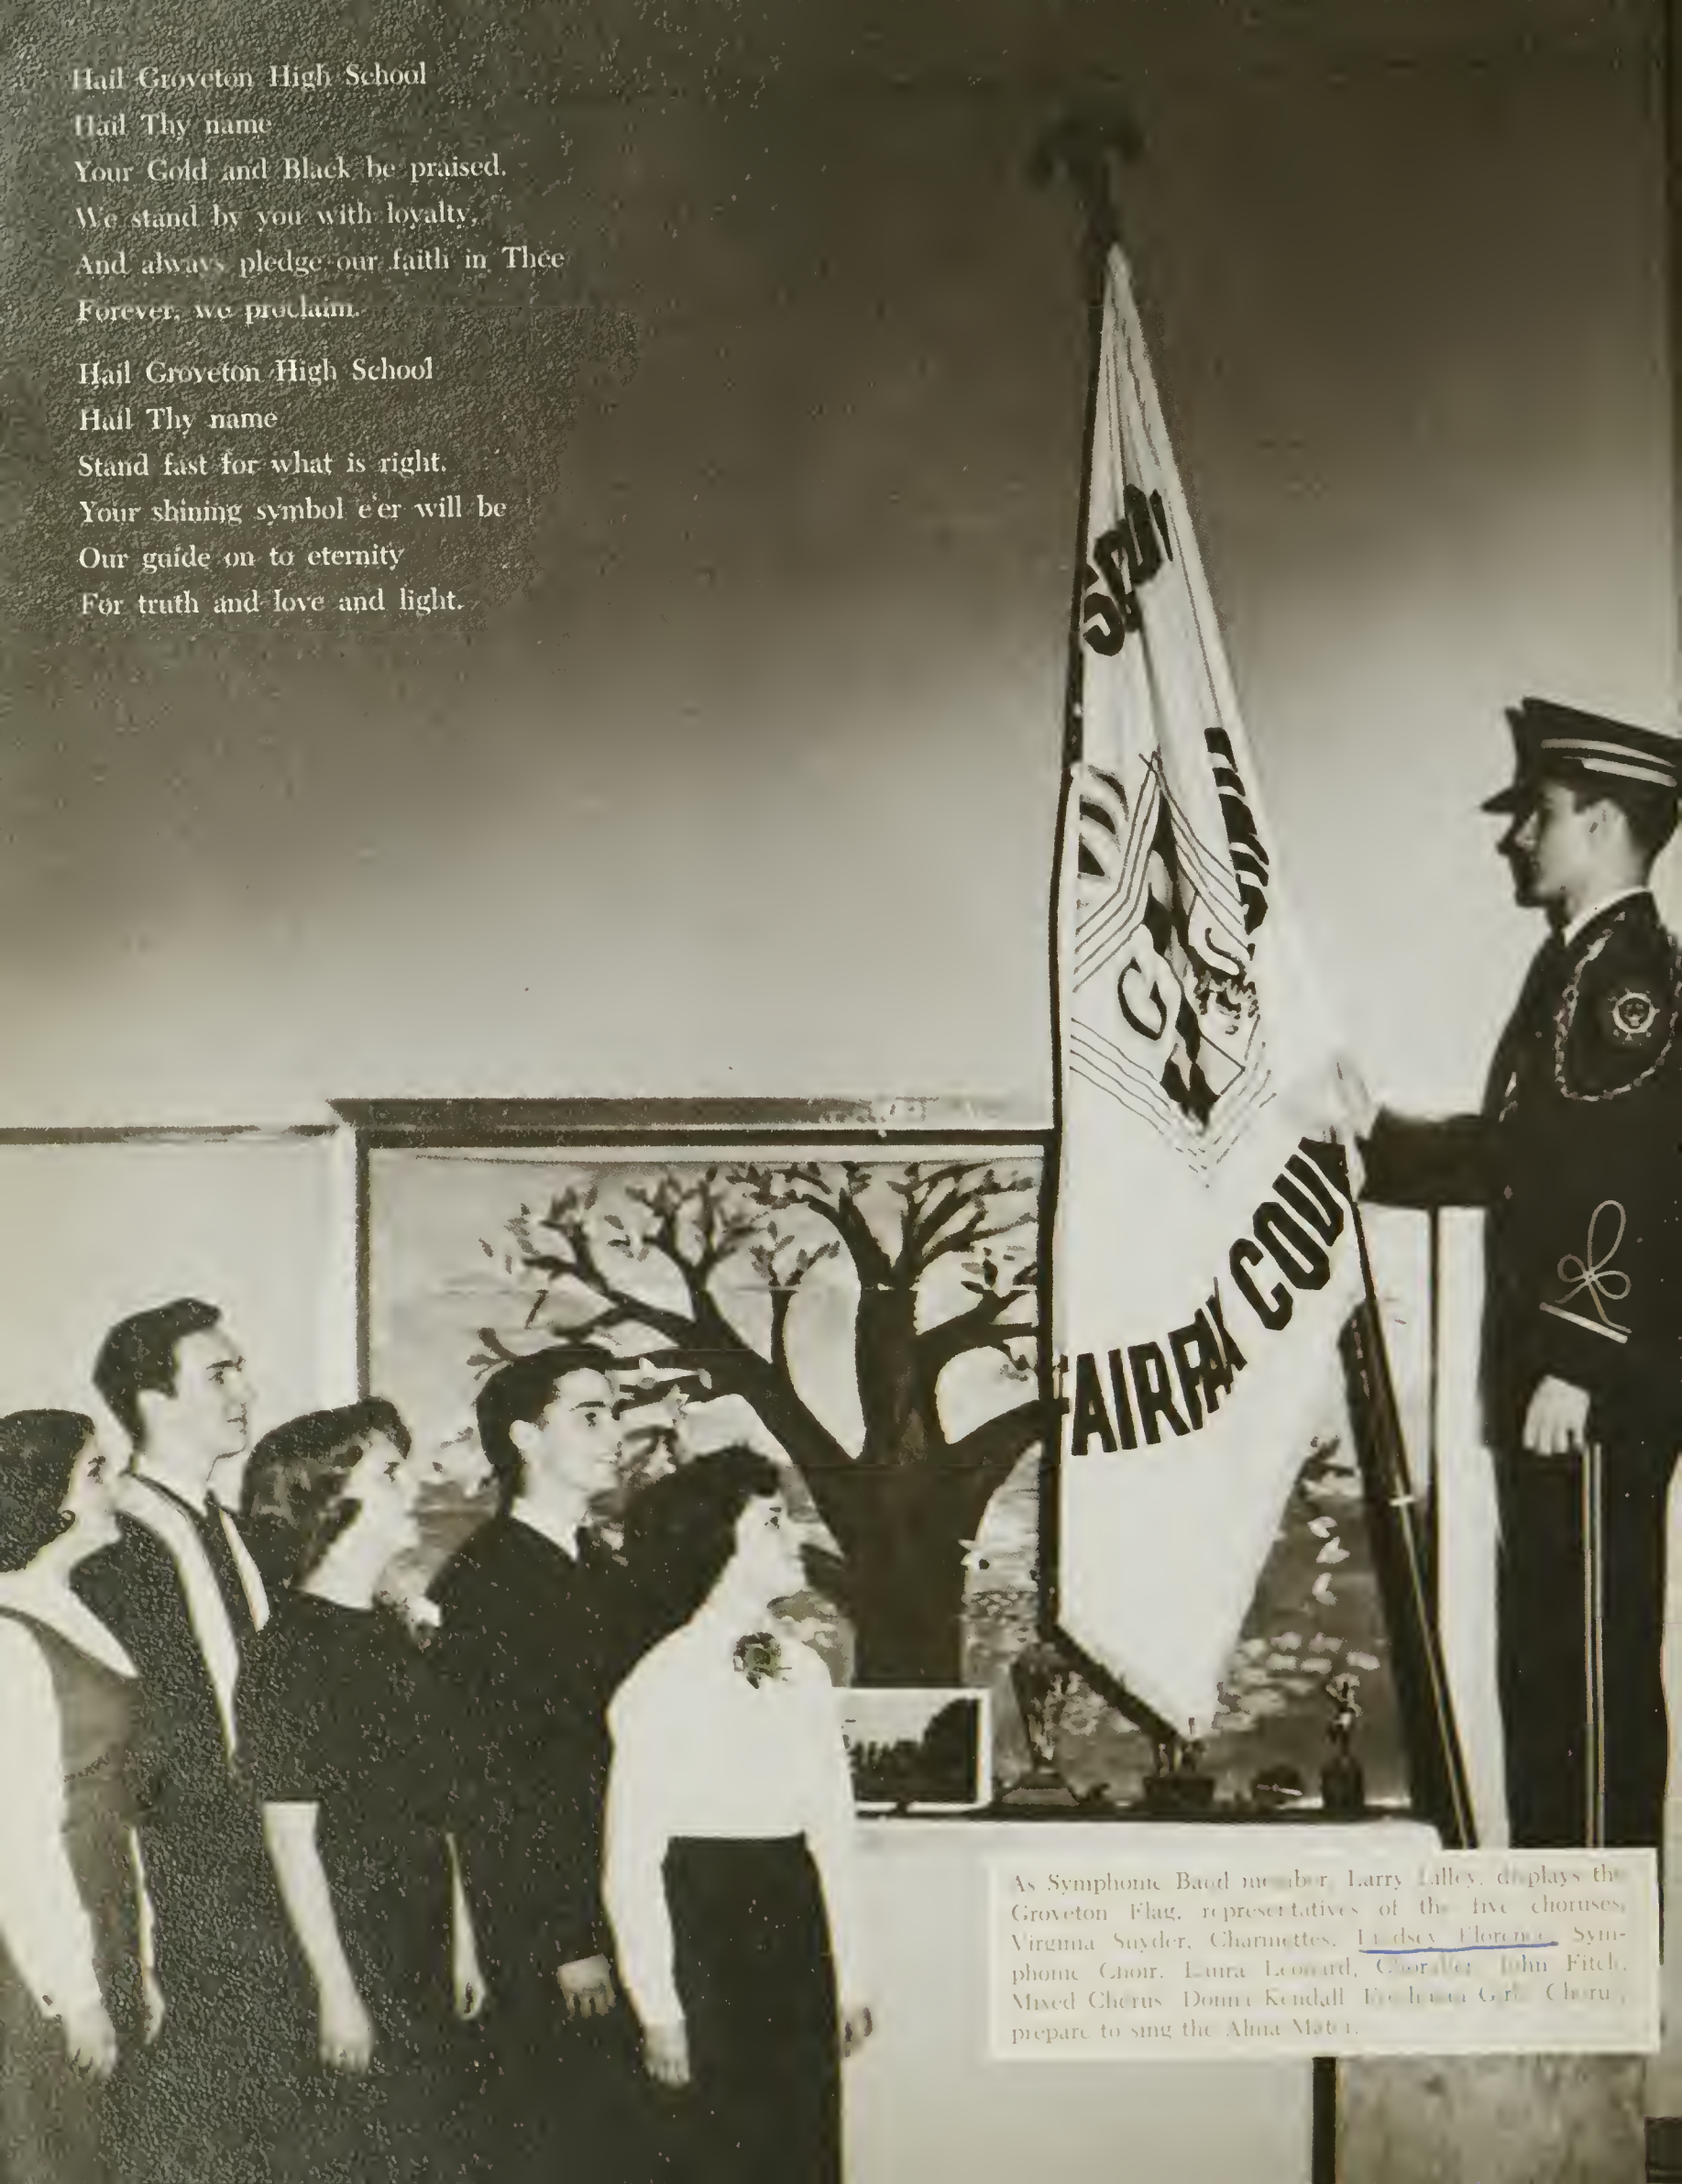
GROVETON HIGH SCHOOL

Fairfax County

Alexandria, Virginia

Hail Groveton High School
Hail Thy name
Your Gold and Black be praised.
We stand by you with loyalty,
And always pledge our faith in Thee
Forever, we proclaim.

Hail Groveton High School
Hail Thy name
Stand fast for what is right.
Your shining symbol e'er will be
Our guide on to eternity
For truth and love and light.



As Symphonic Band member, Larry Lalley, displays the Groveton Flag, representatives of the five choruses, Virginia Snyder, Charmettes, Lindsey Florence, Symphonic Choir, Laura Leonard, Chorale, John Fitch, Mixed Chorus, Donna Kendall, Freshman Girls' Chorus, prepare to sing the Alma Mater.

As firm roots determine the life and growth of a tree, so do they contribute to the vitality and advancement of a high school. During the past five years, Groveton High has been establishing sturdy roots through various programs that have enriched all phases of school administration.

Without the months of preparation prior to Groveton's first year, the school's growth would have been seriously impeded. With the opening in September, 1956, Groveton's "manifest destiny" was already well on its way. Throughout these five years, traditions have evolved—the school mascot, flag, seal, school colors, and songs—all of which symbolize Groveton High School.

Because Groveton has come of age, being fully accredited by the Virginia State Department of Education, a new meaning comes to light in the Alma Mater's opening line, "Hail, Groveton High School"—these words bid the students to pause and see their school in perspective, and to consider how they have encouraged its progress.

As the past five years represent periods of Groveton's development, so do the five sections into which Tigerama is divided present five different phases of Groveton's growth during 1960-61. For this special issue of Tigerama, the staff has chosen a wooden grain for the cover, as this is our fifth anniversary, the Wooden Anniversary.

Firmly establishing Groveton as an accredited institution of learning, the entire administration has promoted progressive ideas and advocated a thorough background in all subjects. Concepts such as these have reinforced Groveton's growing roots, as teachers have frequently generated the vigor behind student energies.

As guides of student development, teachers and administrators progressed with students, some remaining all five years. Of the 50 original faculty members, 21 have remained.

Expanding each year the school's curriculum has gained various courses not offered the first term. The fourth year of language was introduced in Latin, French, and Spanish in the second year. Trigonometry and American Government were added when the first senior class evolved in 1957-58.

During this 1960-61 session, students were able to choose from the widest variety of electives in the school's history. A general Homemaking course introduced by the Home Economics Department was available to both boys and girls. Sociology-Economics was introduced as a study of man in his society, while students' creative abilities developed through a course in creative writing. For those who wished to improve in reading comprehension, a speed-reading course was offered after school during the second semester. Juniors profited from a variety of teachers' viewpoints in the U.S.-Va. History system of team-teaching.

As four class representatives view the class Honor Rolls with Guidance Director, Mrs. Keesee, the challenge to achieve and excel has constantly increased in importance, even during the short period of time during which Groveton has been developing firm roots.

Superintendent Woodson retires after 32 years service.

In answer to a dream, Mr. Woodson talks to all the teachers of Fairfax County at Constitution Hall on November 8, 1960. Usually the teachers meet by districts only.

After more than thirty years of service to Fairfax County Schools, Superintendent Wilbert T. Woodson submitted his resignation. A graduate of William and Mary College, Mr. Woodson has led in the transition from a few small county schools to many large schools. With his encouragement, curricular offerings in the field of vocational and academic education have been greatly expanded. Among other improvements, the diversified diploma was introduced during Mr. Woodson's tenure. At a reception held at Fairfax High School on May 20, 1961, Mr. Woodson was honored by members of the county with a new Oldsmobile sedan.

Because of the phenomenal growth of the county school enrollment during the past decade, construction of new intermediate and high schools has become mandatory, nine intermediate schools having been completed and opened this year. Mr. Woodson, along with the School Board, has constantly aimed toward improving educational opportunities for all students of Groveton and other Fairfax County schools.

Mr. and Mrs. Woodson attend a concert which was dedicated to him on March 6, 1961 at Fairfax High School.

FAIRFAX COUNTY SCHOOL BOARD: Mr. Berge Thomasian, Falls Church District; Mr. F. Merritt Ruhlen, Mason District; Mr. Waldron E. Leonard, Mt. Vernon District; (standing) Mr. W. T. "Understanding through effective communications."

Better understanding through effective communication has been achieved by the administration and faculty in various ways. By working through the church and home, Mr. Gibbs and staff gained insight into student problems.

Continuing to work with the evaluation committee's report submitted last spring, an intensified study of curriculum in relation to subject content and number of offered courses was begun by the various departments. As well as a written self-evaluation by teachers, spring conferences were set up with the administration for joint evaluation.

Schedules were this year formluated by electronic machines instead of being done by the administration. Each Wednesday was reserved for departmental meetings, during which teachers had opportunity to co-ordinate their plans to aid each other. With 19 new teachers as part of the faculty, and four new courses in the curriculum, a broadening instruction program offered students greater benefits.

Counselors available six periods for student guidance.

Students who are perplexed about what courses they should take, what colleges they should attend, or for what scholarships they should apply, might easily resolve their problems with a visit to Groveton's Guidance Department. Counselors are in their offices six periods a day to help students make adjustments in their schedules, or to give information concerning career and college opportunities.

College Entrance Examination results are obtainable in the Guidance Office. Upon request, students may procure Kudar Preference Tests, which indicate a person's main fields of interest. For any academic or vocational data, one should first inquire at Guidance.

Expanded program creates interest in library work.

Did you ever need to know the average weight of a whale's heart? For this and more pertinent information, Groveton's library has remained the student's chief "information center." With the perserverance of head librarian, Mrs. Williamson, and her assistant, Miss Roper, long-range requests regarding the physical arrangements of the library have been granted.

To offer more information on all types of occupations, the guidance data file has been expanded. A check-out system for pamphlets and vocational materials was put into effect this September. As well as having lists of new acquisitions published, the library has compiled reading lists for English and Social Studies classes.

During fifth period Margot Gray works in the library on files.

Helpers essential in school maintenance and care.

Mrs. Hodge, Mrs. Tavenner, Mrs. Painter, Mrs. Northcraft, Mrs. Messick, Mrs. Lineberry, Mrs. Bonnett, Mrs. Pope, Mrs. Markley, Mrs. Day, Mrs. Phipps, and Mrs. Barnnett enjoy a leisurely meal before the busy activities of serving of serving student lunches begin.

Since Groveton's cafeteria helpers served the first lunch to a Grovetonite five years ago, many additions have been made to this all-important school administration. A new mixer, a deep freeze, and an automatic slicer have made it modern and well-equipped. During the lunch periods, 800 to 900 students are served each day.

Custodians are called upon each day to replace broken lights and other fixtures. Lockers are a frequent troublemaker; they fix at least four per day. They regulate the heating system, keep the school clean, and each morning and for all activities, they open the school and cafeteria.

John Crouch and Bob Dunn pay Mrs. Bonnett, the cafeteria cashier, for their lunches.

Parents ably assist in extra-curricular activities.

In Groveton's five years, considerable changes and improvements have been effected as a result of active parent groups. The S.P.T.A. seeks primarily to achieve better understanding and relationships among students, parents, and teachers. Modest financial help has been given by this association to extra-curricular activities, and additions were made by the S.P.T.A. in Groveton's library and first aid room. The sidewalk on Popkins Lane was a result of S.P.T.A. efforts in obtaining permission for its construction.

Tiger Boosters aid the athletic department, spending more than $600 a year for athletic trophies and emblems. This organization has provided man power for many athletic functions and initiated intramural basketball several years ago.

Band Patrons promote the activities of the Golden Tiger Band and Tigerettes. They chaperone and sponsor field trips, such as "Band Day" at the University of Virginia. As "publicity agents," they decorate school showcase windows and print programs for the annual "Jubilee." By selling tickets and furnace filters and assisting with the "Funerama," they prove invaluable to the operation of the instrumental music program.

After a meeting of the Band Patrons, Mr. William Karjala, Treasurer; Mr. Robert Marshall, Vice President; Mr. John Frye, President; and Mrs. Maurice Hellner, Secretary, enjoy Mrs. Hepner's refreshments.

Mr. Kenneth C. Drake, Vice President; Mrs. Marguerite Tidwell, Secretary; Mr. John Howzdy, President; and Mrs. Marie Storer, Treasurer, gather to work on the S.P.T.A. budget. (Mrs. Eleanor James, of the faculty, and David Mastran, of the student body, are not pictured.)

Mrs. Camille Whalen, Treasurer; Mr. Erie Bramley, President; and Mrs. Frances Mawyer, Secretary, discuss Tiger Booster plans. Mr. George Vance, Vice President, was unable to attend.

"Hello! Groveton calling!" Student helpers render valuable assistance in their various roles as telephone receptionists, messengers, and clerical assistants in the administrative offices. These helpers perform special services, such as calling the homes of absentees and delivering messages, which otherwise could not be done. They also aid in typing school reports, records, and letters that would burden the secretaries, teachers, and other administrators. Student helpers increase the efficiency through services they render every day.

Book store helpers: Suzanne Beck, Easton Lomax, Ellis Markham, Sandra Brubaker, Bob Bates, and Barry Morf decorate the showcase for Christmas.

"Tomorrow, and tomorrow, and tomorrow," famous words of Macbeth, aptly describe the endless planning done by the English Department to offer students every opportunity in this field of study. Along with the four years of required English, students were able to take courses in public speaking, journalism, drama, and creative writing.

Within the department, close co-operation of faculty and sharing of ideas and techniques all contributed to departmental progress. As an added strength, English teachers taught only four classes daily, giving these instructors more time for planning and improving courses. Generally speaking, teachers of the English Department taught only English or closely related subjects; thus their lesson plans were concentrated in one main area. A special teacher, Mr. Bernard, instructed remedial reading twice a week for ninth and tenth graders.

Student interest was aroused by participation in essay contests and debates. By attending plays dramatized at Catholic University, the students were able to profit in one or more ways to better their background outside the classroom.

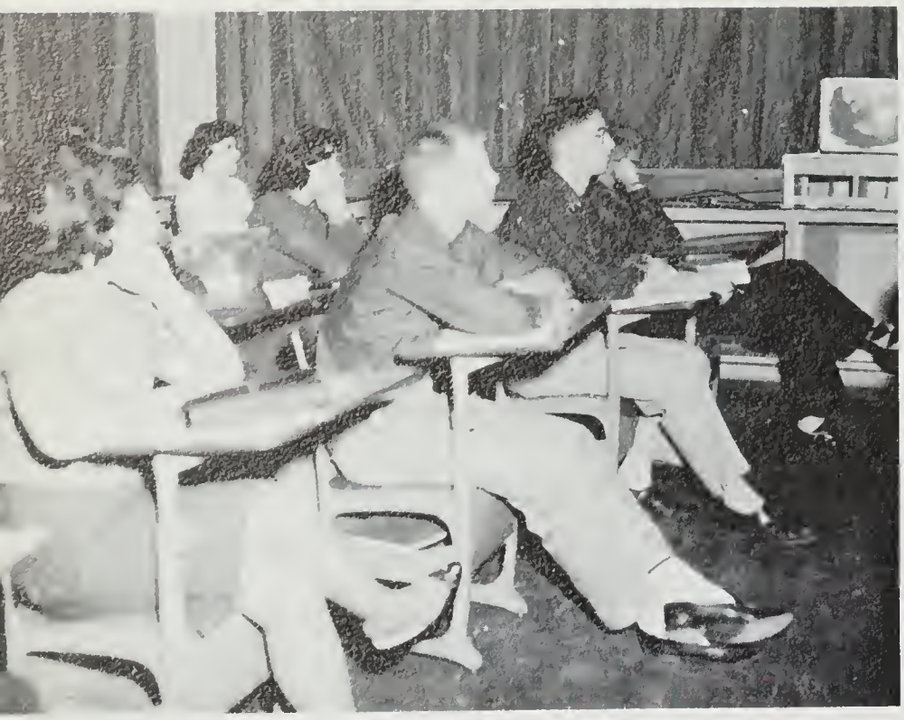
"Team Teaching" tried



Senior Government students observe a closed-circuit T.V. experiment arranged by county officials.

Team spirit is contagious! At least, it appeared to be as U. S. History teachers in the Social Studies Department joined together to formulate plans for "team teaching" in their classes. By this method, a weekly schedule, which provided for lectures by various teachers, was set up for each U. S. History class. "Team teaching" enabled teachers to use their training to its fullest extent, and students to receive various instructors' viewpoints.

Sociology-Economics made its debut this fall when almost 100 students were enrolled in its three classes. Sociology students heard tapes about brainwashing and divorce, and learned about alcoholism from a talk by Dr. Doris Woodward in March.

This election year gave social studies teachers the opportunity to illustrate the system of democratic elections. In the spring, U. S. Government classes studied a unit on Communism. For geography students, Major Gamarras of the Peruvian Army presented a lecture concerning Peru's sentiments toward the U. S. For the 1200 social studies students, the department presented new courses and new methods of instruction which offered maximum benefits.

Visual aids and wide

For the 1250 students taking one or more courses in mathematics, the Department has presented excellent material the past five years because of various assets. Well-trained teachers present a wide scope of courses—math, algebra, advanced algebra, plane and solid geometry, analysis and trigonometry. Excellent visual aids, such as graph charts, solid figures, and plastic devices have assisted the student in his grasping of functional mathematics.

Easily accessible at the school library is a large collection of books dealing with mathematics. This collection was granted to Groveton High by the American Association for the Advancement of Science. Students also benefited from a demonstration by Mr. Linwood Murray on the mechanics of a slide rule. A basic requirement of a "C" average in preceding math courses was set for students continuing into higher mathematics.

In Mr. Tylka's General Math class, Ken Wease, Joyce Brown, and Albert McCloskey work with mathematical instruments.

Science interests

Science, the neon sign of today and the glowing promise of tomorrow, was widely represented through courses in geophysical science, biology, chemistry, and physics. To meet the demands of the scientific world, the department offered students excellent equipment and well-versed instructors.

A definite highlight in the physics course was the February 15 field trip to the VEPCO Power Plant at Possum Point, where the 52 participants from Groveton and Lee High Schools were shown and the fundamental operations of the plant. Great interest was aroused by a field trip to the Philadelphia Planatarium, and competitive spirit ran high as members entered projects in the Science Fair on March 7.

When contrasted with the 400 students enrolled in the Foreign Language Department in Groveton's first year, the 800 student enrollment of 1960-61 evidences the growing interest in the study of languages. Comprehension and fluency in the spoken language as well as the instruction is facilitated by proficient use of the $15,000 language laboratory, the major addition of the past five years.

All language students celebrated Christmas by singing Christmas carols in the language studied. Spanish students also celebrated the season by breaking piñatas. On January 14th, a field trip was made to see famous Spanish dancer, José Greco in Washington. Other highlights, for those taking French, included a student-exchange day between Groveton and Maret French School in Washington, and membership for qualified students in the French National Honor Soeiety, which was chartered this spring.

Working together, Music

Chorus and band members get together in the '61 Jubilee for the traditional "May the Good Lord Bless and Keep You."

Music, music, music was the result of the courses in Concert and Symphonic Band as offered by the Music Department. Elementary Harmony and Theory aided the 140 band students as they received instruction in instrumental techniques. All five choruses benefitted from daily practice of production numbers as well as breathing exercises.

From the world's culture, another of Groveton's departments was derived—the Art Department. In each of the four progressing art courses, the effects of heritage, communities, humanities, and individual personalities upon art were emphasized.

Of the 120 students enrolled in art courses, seniors visited Pratt Institute and the Modern Art Museum in New York. The Art Department was responsible for much attractive decorating in show cases and at school dances. In the spring, senior art students were able to relate art to the field in which they took interest. Thus those wishing to be teachers taught art; those interested in commercial arts worked with other commercial artists.

Nancy Lukehart, Kenny Nelson, Marcia Daniel, Sam Rakes, Karen Larson, (Mr. Buskirk), Bill Karjala, Anita Hepburn, and Aaron Hook have studied with Mr. Buskirk for five years.

Many people will someday be homemakers, and the 150 Grovetonites enrolled in the Homemaking Department are preparing themselves now to cope with future home problems. To the four-year Home Economics program, an additional course has been added—the General One-year Homemaking Course. It offers a condensed version of General Home Economics to boys and girls who could not elect homemaking because of other prerequisites.

School organizations that wish to serve guests call on the classes to prepare refreshments. Homemaking students also gain experience through guided and supervised projects which they complete in their own homes.

In January, students saw slides showing possible careers in this field. Mrs. Ross's classes were fortunate to view an exhibit of the American Decorators Institute on October 26. Featured in this exhibit were 36 rooms designed by prominent interior decorators of Washington. Such special activities, along with a smaller pupil load, enabled teachers, Mrs. Rabunsky and Mrs. Ross, to provide more thorough, well-rounded homemaking courses.

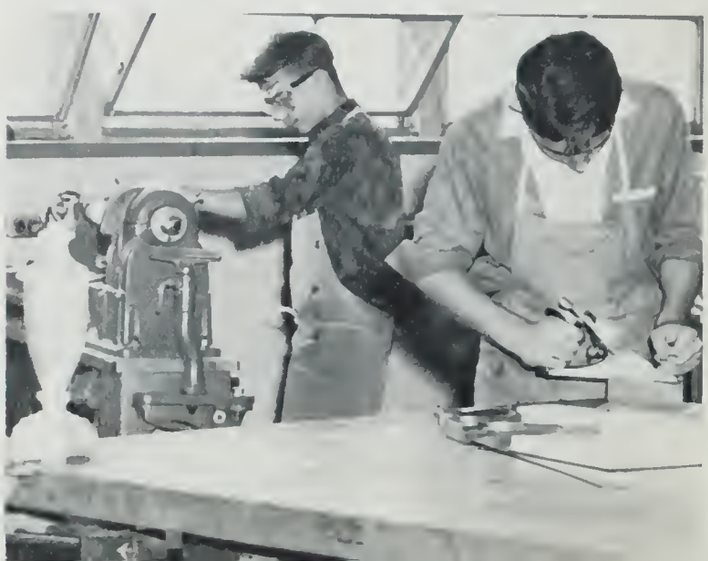
With the realization that the industrial aspects of America raise a need for men and women skilled in these fields, the Industrial Arts Department included in its curriculum those courses and activities designed to meet these social and personal needs. Courses offered in this department included general shop, woodworking, mechanical drawing, and the metal shop.

A radial saw and punch press were two new pieces of equipment installed this year. The second semester project of mechanical drawing dealt with creative design. An interest in plastics was successfully encouraged, and along with the other fields, resulted in projects often displayed in hall showcases.

Lee Faulconer and Terry Cramer strive for accuracy and perfection in mechanical drawing class.

Alan Ayler watches Wayne Cramer with interest as he assembles his metal shop project.

Doug Megenity and Tony Luseynski work with skillful hands in the woodworking shop to create useful objects.



Work while learning helps future earning.

Industrial Co-operative Training, formerly Diversified Occupation, received its new name on October 28, 1960, when the State Department of Education announced the change. In this program, students may attend school in the morning and have first-hand experience in an apprentice trade or service occupation in the afternoon.

Two basic types of instruction compose the training course; the generally related and the directly related. One period per week is the minimum requirement for the generally related course, which includes study units beneficial to all I.C.T. students. Four periods per week comprise the maximum for the directly related course, which guides the student in the field in which he is engaged. Students work the minimum of fifteen hours, and receive two credits.

Joyce Woodson, Molley Skipper, Barrington Cox, Ray James, Beth Thompson, Derryl Ballard, Berry Mates, Kay Redman, Gary Johnson, Lefty Everett, and Charles Boleyn prepare to leave Groveton to go to their respective jobs.

With an enrollment total of 730 students, the Business Department is one of the largest in the school. Courses offered are Typing I and II, Shorthand I and II, Vocational Office Training, bookkeeping, business math, and clerical office practice. This program lends itself to the adequate preparation of secretarial and clerical workers.

"Careers in Business Week" have added highlights for this year's business student. With serviceable physical facilities and layout, the Business Department serves as an excellent guide into the intricate world of business.

V.O.T. students experience "on the job training."

Fourteen students learn basic skills for office jobs and prepare themselves for a business career through Vocational Office Training. By actual contact with the job routines under competent supervision, students' office education is facilitated. As well as receiving an opportunity to earn while they learn, students accept job responsibilities which help them to become good citizens. These bookkeepers and typists work in places of employment ranging from the General Accounting Office in Washington to dress shops and finance corporations.

With the wide variety of sports and activities included in the Physieal Edueation Department during the past five years, students may find advantages in understanding as well as partieipating in athletic activities. In the classroom and gymnasium, students learn the basie rules and skills of basketball, soecer, baseball, softball, tennis, archery, golf, bowling, tumbling, and ealisthenics. Modern, folk, and square dancing are taught in the girls' gym classes.

Co-recreation, which oceupies one week of the monthly schedule, offers boys' and girls' classes participation together in dancing, volleyball, sideline basketball, and other games and relays. Health classes are taught in three week periods, rotating with P.E. classes. General health, first aid, and driver training are areas instructed in the P.E. elassroom.

S. C. A. officers, Cliff Long, Vice President; June Rutledge, Reporter; Brian Flattery, Treasurer; Karen Vest, Secretary; David Mastran, President, spread Christmas spirit as they decorate the beautiful tree in the lobby.

Just as the glittering ornaments on the Christmas tree enhance its stark branches and bare roots, so do activities symbolize lights that sparkle from the tree of knowledge.

Many organizations formed in the opening months of 1956, have continued to be an active part of school life. The S.P.T.A. has been functioning since Groveton's first session. Mrs. Eleanor James sponsored a steering committee the first year, which under her leadership, has become an active S.C.A. The Future Homemakers of America have promoted good homemaking every year with Mrs. Carolyn Rabunsky as adviser.

Tigerama staffs, yearly advised by Miss Thelma Morris, have endeavored to produce annuals which could serve as history books as well as memory books. Mrs. Imogene Dolozik has directed the Tiger Theatre in producing award-winning performances. From a single mixed chorus of 88 members, five choirs have evolved and maintained a reputation for excellence under Mrs. Tabor's direction. Mr. Everette Buskirk has conducted the Golden Tiger Band since the first year when its members had not yet purchased uniforms.

During this 1960-61 term, French students formed an honor French Club, "Les Erudits," which required the exclusive use of French at meetings. A senior girls' chorus, the Choraliers, was added to the Choral Department. As well as receiving top ratings at the 1961 V.M.E.A. Choral Festival, 100 Groveton voices joined with 100 Mt. Vernon voices to present a nationally televised Easter Sunday Sunrise service.

Because of those who have contributed time, abilities, and leadership toward activities, roots continually grow deeper and flourish as constantly as those of the Christmas evergreen.

for athletic field–sells lights for lights.

"Would you like to buy some light bulbs to help light Groveton's athletic field?" asked Grovetonites, as they carried forth the Student Co-operative Association's ingenious idea for raising money to install lights on the athletic field. The light bulbs were sold in nearby residential areas during the month of March.

As co-ordinator of such special activities as the "light bulb project," the S.C.A. has aided in the dispatch of the school's administration since the first day of school, when it distributed schedule cards to students. Plans for 1960-61 were begun at the summer workshop at Radford College, July 25-29. Among fall activities were arrangements for Homecoming festivities and the magazine drive.

School insignias were made available to students in November. S.C.A. members assisted the new William Cullen Bryant Intermediate School in beginning its administration efficiently. The honor system was discussed at an S.C.A. dinner, at which George Washington High School cabinet members were guests. In the Christmas spirit, the customary door decoration contest, welfare food drive, and Christmas card distribution with TB seals were again projects of the S.C.A.

An Honor Council Assembly, a "Teens Against Polio" drive, and a leadership training course headlined 1961 enterprises. In March, the 1961-62 election of S.C.A. officers was conducted; the winners going to the state convention the next month. With installation of new officers in May, the S.C.A. completed another cycle in its service to Groveton High School.

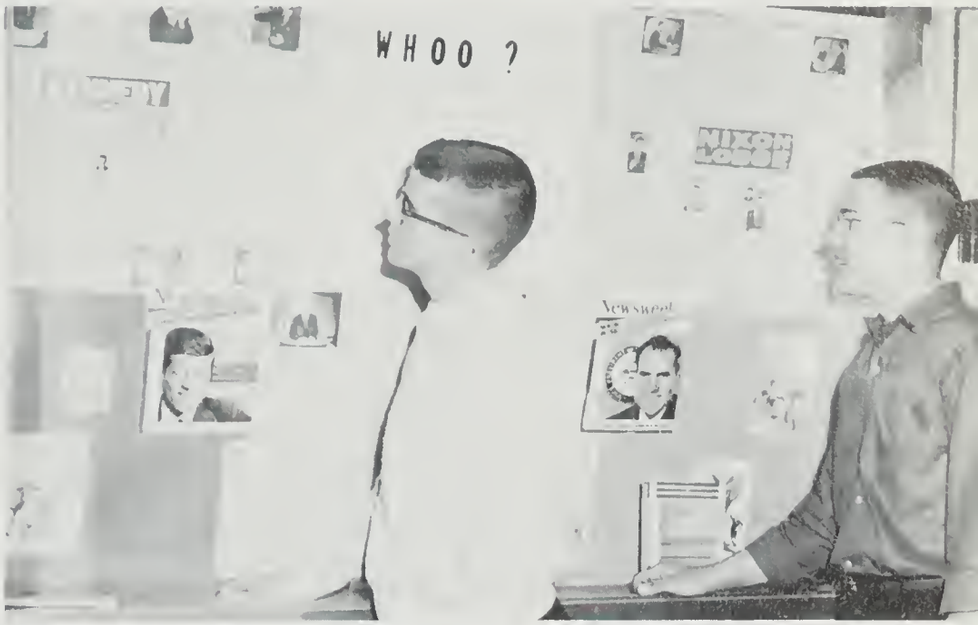
support to help the school meet its goal and to cast votes for their candidates.



Mel Brooker and Bill Karjala eagerly await the outcome of the Groveton election as Kennedy and Nixon receive the close returns of the national popular vote.

"And, furthermore, if I am elected . . .!" campaigned Senators William Soundoff and Melvin Talkalot, team captains in the 1960 Magazine Campaign, as they urged Grovetonites to become eligible to vote by selling magazine subscriptions. Each student, who could vote for the Demlican or Republocrat party, received a certain number of votes according to the number and type of subscriptions he sold. High salesmen were eligible "to pull political strings from Uncle Sam's hat," each string being worth up to $5. The sales commission was used for the intramural basketball program, and for the improvement of landscape of the school grounds. This political campaign and election of President of the United States of Groveton was climaxed by the Inaugural Ball on December 17 at the school.

Following the nomination of the Demlican candidate, students take part in a gay demonstration for their party.

Mr. Bertok, magazine representative, says good-night at the Governor's Dinner held at the Charter House, December 5. Honored teachers were Mrs. James, Washington D. Inaugural Ball ends Drive

One month and two days before President and Mrs. John F. Kennedy were honored at the Inaugural Ball at the nation's capital, President William Soundoff and First Lady Jo Ann Soundoff were honored at Groveton's Inaugural Ball on December 17. The ball, which was held in place of the customary December Freeze, climaxed the Presidential election of the United States of Groveton, the theme for the S.C.A. sponsored magazine campaign. Those students who sold their quota of magazines received invitations to this gala celebration.

In keeping with the Christmas season, the decorations included two Christmas murals drawn by members of the S.C.A. Cabinet, and a decorated tree donated by the Key Club. With blue and silver ceiling and light trimmings, the scene was set for this holiday dance.

Betty Clinton spends an enchanted evening at the Inaugural Ball with Bill Baker, class of '60.

Hearts had to wait through five snowstorms to celebrate their holiday at the traditional Sweetheart Dance. King Bart Frye and Queen Kathie Drake reigned at this "Holiday for Hearts," which was postponed from February 11 to March 11.

Guest's attention focused on Mr. Gibbs' presentation of the court and announcement of the King and Queen at 9:30. Amidst congratulations the King, Queen, and Court then danced to a medley of songs by the Twilighters. After senior class president, Jack Tidwell, presented a bouquet of roses to her Majesty, she cut the cake while the King served the guests.

First Homecoming at

Marion Carter beams upon being crowned Homecoming Queen of 1960.

With enthusiasm as warm as the afternoon of October 15, senior Marion Carter reigned as Queen of Homecoming for the third anniversary of this annual event. Students and alumni reunited for this, the first Homecoming game to be played on Groveton's athletic field.

During halftime, candidates for Homecoming Queen, previously elected by seniors, waved to spectators from convertibles driven around the track by junior classmen. Golden Tiger Band members and majorettes set the background for this impressive halftime ceremony, as the nine candidates marched through a flowered arch with their escorts. Mr. Gibbs crowned Marion Carter Queen of 1960, while the 1959 Queen, Sandra Morris, congratulated Her Majesty with a bouquet of flowers.

At the Homecoming Dance, held that evening, the Queen and her court were again presented. Sponsored by the senior class, the dance climaxed the festivities for a memorable weekend.

fifth year of outstanding leadership for F.H.A.

An appreciation of the joys and satisfaction of well-planned homemaking and a wholesome family life were two of the many attitudes gained by active Future Homemakers of America. Each morning members served juices, milk, and doughnuts at the morning Breakfast Club.

In September, the 54 members sponsored a "New Member-Old Member Picnic." The UNICEF Drive was conducted by these industrious workers on Halloween. November was an active month when members served at the annual College Day and took contributions to Veterans Hospital. Future Homemakers participated in the Federation Fashion Show in the spring. Mothers enjoyed a Mother-Daughter Tea in April, a similar occasion occurred for members of the administration at the Faculty Tea. Members toured the Home Economics Department of the University of Maryland during a field trip in April.

With the enticing offer of $5 per Saturday, the Future Business Leaders of America eagerly participated in their first major activity of the year. Members worked in the business office of the National Education Association during October. Other events for the fifteen active members included the Regional Convention at Mary Washington College, and the State Convention at Richmond. Members also sought the business opportunities of the area for men, to stimulate boys' interest and thus raise the organization's membership.

Another organization associated with the National Education Association is the Future Teachers of Ameriea. In November, six of them attended the State Convention at Riehmond. As representatives of the F.T.A., a four-year-old organization at Groveton, they were present to learn of the latest teaching methods. At Christmas, this club sponsored a tea for the Groveton faculty. A panel of eight teachers diseussed the "pros and cons" of their colleges on January 9. Other activities included visits to elementary schools and to schools for the handicapped.

Rifle, Chess, Radio Clubs boost skill and interest.

"Ready aim fire!" was the familiar cry to the twenty-five Grovetonites who composed the newly-formed Rifle Club. Under the sponsorship of Mr. Keely, they met each Wednesday from 7:00 to 9:30 p.m. at the range in the Holland Engineering Building. Mr. Holland, chief engineer, taught members firing techniques, and also instructed them in a National Rifle Association course. The Rifle Club organized matches with teams from other schools in the area.

Another skilled hobby which fascinated Grovetonites was the game of chess. Chess Club members met each Friday, and played in tournaments every two weeks. These competitive matches were organized as the Metropolitan Area Chess League. In the first of the seven League games, Groveton defeated Hammond 4-1, but lost to Lee in the following game. On the 24th of January, four Groveton members competed with Chess Club members of the various schools to determine the best League player.

Groveton's Radio Club, sponsored by Mr. Reed, was formed last year, and has applied for membership in the American Relay League.

Choirs sing sacred

"Ain't We Got Fun?" sang chorus members in the '61 Jubilee, and an enthusiastic "yes!" could well answer that question, as singing Grovetonites filled the 1960-61 year with delightful music for almost every occasion. The '61 Jubilee set a precedent when, for the first time, it was performed three nights, February 15, 16, and 18.

Another first for the Charmettes and Symphonic Choir was their opportunity to perform at the Senate Office Building and Pentagon in December and March. Traditionally, all choirs presented the Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Easter Assemblies. The National Honor Society assembly featured the Symphonic Choir in November, while the following month the Women's Garden Club presented the Charmettes at the Greens Show on December 9.

Together with the Golden Tiger Band, all choirs gave the Christmas Concert, on December 21. All choirs joined together at the Chorus Festival at Lee High School in March. As the spring season arrived, chorus members' fancies turned to song in their Spring Concert, May 13. Another year of both work and enjoyment was completed with the Symphonic Choir setting the mood for graduation at the Baccalaureate and Commencement Programs.

Snowbound! Fifteen members of the Golden Tiger Band were snowbound during Northern Virginia All-State Band practices at Fairfax High School. Because of hazardous driving conditions resulting from one of the season's five serious snowstorms, a decision was made for the All-State Band to remain at the school overnight. The Army contributed sleeping bags, and sleeping faeilities were set up for the students. By the next night, roads were passable and the band members were rescued by their parents.

Other more usual performances of the Band were presented during the halftime of eight Groveton football games, and games at Annandale and George Washington High Schools. The fall season was climaxed by several members attending Band Day at the University of Virginia.

Mr. Buskirk, band director, has served in this capacity since the band was first created in Groveton's opening year, 1956. Under his direction the Band has made many public appearances eaeh year. This year's events ineluded the Christmas Concert, December 21, and the Jubilee, February 15, 16, and 18, both in eollaboration with the Choral Department. Several U.S. Army Band members assisted at the fourth annual Band Clinic in April.

Diffieult grade V music was performed at the District IV Band Festival at Wakefield High School, while solos and ensembles highlighted the Northern Virginia Festival on Mareh 11. The finishing touch for graduation ceremonies was made by the music of the Golden Tiger Band in June, 1961.

In decided contrast with activities of the first G.H.S. Golden Tigerettes, this year's commendable record illustrates the progress made by the Tiger Twirlers. Under the sponsorship of Mrs. Tabor and Mr. Buskirk, the sixteen Golden Tigerettes have participated in parades and contests throughout the year. Led by Drum Majorette Carole Pate, they performed at football games, and the Osbourn and Hammond basketball games.

Special programs included the Jubilee, the George Washington Birthday Celebration Parade, and routines at the University of Virginia's Band Day. A baton contest open to twirlers of all states took place at Groveton on April 8. All the Tigerettes attended William and Mary Camp in Williamsburg, Virginia, for two weeks in June, where they participated in drills from 8:00 A. M. to 4:00 P. M. daily.

As Social Studies should be the concern of every American citizen, Groveton's Social Studies Club decided to have no definite number of members, but to invite all Grovetonites to attend meetings. The Club proposed to encourage better world co-operation and to keep students well-informed.

In spite of snow, several guest speakers were able to attend. Major Gamaro, an officer in the Peruvian Army, discussed Peru's impressions of the United States and communist countries. From the Greenland ice cap, Captain Sochacki explained experiments testing man's ability to exist under extremely cold conditions. He showed heavy clothing necessary for living on the ice cap, and slides of Air Force bases in Greenland Winning entries from Science Fair compete regionally.

Upon learning that he is a winner, Tom Johnson smiles with pleasure, knowing that he has put his three years of science at Groveton to good use.

Jerry Stewart and Tom Barefoot, two science enthusiasts, are fascinated by Ronald Hall's project, a machine which plays tic tac toe.

Students of Groveton High School interested in all phases of science put their knowledge and ingenuity to work on projects entered in the annual Science Fair. The Science Department sponsored the Fair which was held on March 7. Entries were judged by Dr. Murray, Dr. Packer, and Mr. Zimmerman on the basis of originality, scientific principle involved, completeness, and the student's understanding of the project. Winners received gold ribbons and competed in the Regional Fair held on March 24-26 against students from Alexandria, Fairfax County, and Prince William County.

entertains audiences with outstanding performances.

Presenting dramatic performances to audiences from the entire area, the Tiger Theatre has been an active organization since its formation in 1956. One of their major productions, given on October 22 and 24, was the three-act play, "Harvey." Parents, teachers, and students were entertained by these enthusiastic Tigers at the December 8 S.P.T.A. program, which featured short scenes from well-known plays.

Children received a special treat when "Hansel and Gretel" was dramatized on December 10. At the District One-act Play Festival on February 25, members presented "The Regions of Noon." June days brought weather for the Tiger Theatre's annual picnic.

Thespians, a national honorary dramatic society that promotes drama in secondary schools of the U. S., held their induction of new members on January 10. To become a member, Grovetonites had to earn ten honor points, which represented approximately ten hours in rehearsal, scene painting, make-up, or other areas of play production.

French, and Latin Clubs.

Although dreaming of castles in Spain is a pastime of other generations, the forty-nine members of "La Tertulia," the Spanish Club, captured much of the romance of the Castilian language this year, with sponsor, Miss Linder's leadership. At the October meeting, Bonnie Underhill related firsthand information concerning the customs and scenery of Puerto Rico, the territory she visited last summer. Prizes were awarded at the November meeting to winners of Spanish Bingo. Pinatas were broken at the Christmas party on December 22, and Spanish carols were another form of entertainment for this holiday event.

An exclusive use of the French language was required at meetings of "Les Erudits," Groveton's Honor French Club. In February, "Les Erudits" took a field trip to the Georgetown University language laboratory. Members conversed with Mt. Vernon French Club members in April. Sponsored by Mrs. Croom, this club offered both entertainment and practice in flueney of the French language.

Latin Club members met once each month to gain a more thorough knowledge of Roman life, history, and customs. The twenty active participants and their sponsor, Mrs. Turner, enjoyed a Christmas party on December 6, and "did as the Romans did" at a Roman Banquet held in the spring, where they came attired in authentic Roman garments.

Participants in Debate excel in oratorial competition.

A topic that needs no debate is the superior performance of the Varsity Debate team, this year debating the resolution "the United Nations should be significantly strengthened." In the George Mason Tournament held during January, the team won First Place. Two months later, at the George Washington University Tournament, Groveton's representatives were awarded First Place for the Best Over-all Performance. In the Northern Virginia Debate League, the affirmative team completed a season of five wins and three losses; the negative team finished a four-four record.

Junior Varsity's affirmative squad excelled in their tournaments, boasting a perfect record, while the negative team lost only one match.

Another activity encouraging oratorical ability was the Forensics League. Richard McCauley represented Groveton in the Voice of Democracy Contest and Tom Johnson spoke for the National Society, Sons of the American Revolution.

Before attending the District Forensics Meet, April 15, contestants present a mock performance. They are Denise Kogelman, girls' prose; Sarah Dickinson, poetry; Richard McCauley, public speaking; Miss Gentry, sponsor; Tom Johnson, boys' prose. Denise, Richard, and Tom were finalists, and represented the District in the State Meet at Charlottsville.

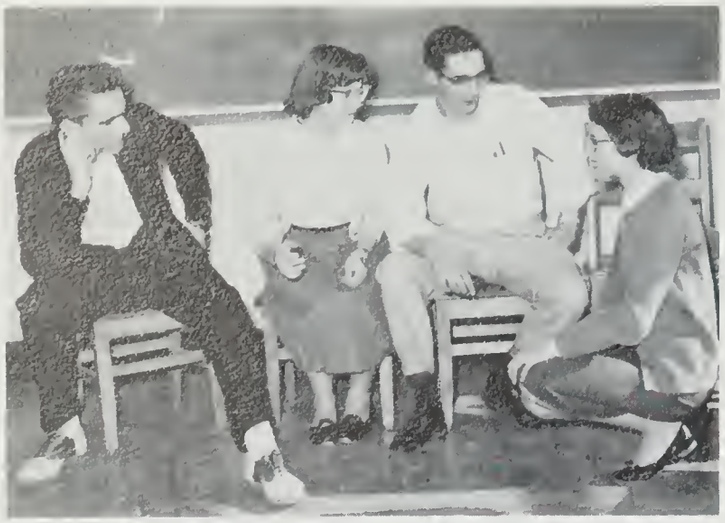
Honor Society raises requirement to 3.2 average.

Admittance into the National Honor Society has remained one of the highest honors a student can receive. During the November and March induction assemblies, forty-four juniors and seniors were inducted.

Honor Society members operated a bookstore in connection with the supply store each day of the week. Those Grovetonites who needed extra help in certain subjects could obtain private instruction from an Honor Society member at $1 per hour. One member, chosen in the spring, received a scholarship from the profits of the bookstore and tutoring services.

Holiday parties and refreshments highlighted meetings held twice a month. Members also held two receptions for new members and parents, a field trip to the Library of Congress, and a hayride in June.

Honor Society members Lois Summerfeld and Jeff Johnston escort inductees Bonnie Green and Raymond Conner to the stage where they take their place among the other members.



Bible Quiz Team Members, Larry Lilly, Barbara Hand, Sam Rakes, and Linda Hatcher, practice for an upcoming meet.

Club promotes fellowship.

Grovetonites who wish to participate in promoting spiritual development and fellowship meet each Thursday after school as the Bible Club. Bible quiz teams study between 2:30 and 4:00 each day and then compete at the weekly meetings. Annual activities include Thanksgiving and Christmas parties, and a special sledding party during one of the season's six snowfalls.

Art enthusiasts form Guild.

"Have talent, will paint" was the appropriate motto of the Art Guild, which sponsored an art show on "Back to School Night." The various members served as art chairmen for other activities, such as the "Jubilee," the Tiger Theater, and the "Funerama." In the spring, Art Guild members sponsored an art show, which featured Potomac River seascapes and painted nature studies.

Twenty-five Key Club members braved the bitter cold to sell Christmas trees on the lot at the CO-OP store in Penn-Daw during the holiday season. These Junior Kiwanis Club members were equally industrious in May, when they landscaped Groveton's memorial area. Representative Key Clubbers attended the National Convention in April. At their meetings each Wednesday night at 7:30, they also planned the Key Club Sock Hop held in February, and a donation to Children's Hospital in June. The service they have rendered to the school paralleled the Kiwanis Club's service to the Community.

Key Clubbers, Bart Frye and Bill Karjala, spread Christmas spirit by selling trees on the CO-OP parking lot.

Publications unite in "Package Deal" and S.I.P.A.

Dennis Beall, Barry Kowalski, and Josh Reckord start the events for the "1960 'Limpics" at a Pep Rally.

Representatives from the three school publications met in the fall to plan the joint subscription drive for 1960-61. During an assembly on September 28, they announced that the "Package Deal" was available to all students desiring the yearbook, newspaper and literary magazine. Hallway posters and showcases reminded everyone to save by buying all three subscriptions in the "Package Deal." The offer included nine issues of Tiger Rag, three of Oneirata, and the fifth edition of Tigerama. Individual subscriptions could also be purchased.

The five delegates from the three publications, Miss Morris, Tigerama Sponsor, Joni Heller and Carol Twigg of Tigerama, Peggy Howard of Tiger Rag, and Andy Kleinfeld of Oneirata, leave school on April 27 to attend S.I.P.A. in Lexington, Virginia.

Dudley Dickinson, of Tiger Rag; Carol Beale, of Tigerama; and Sarah Dickinson, of Oneirata, pop out of a box pushed by Louisa Frank to announce the "Package Deal."

First printed issues of Oneirata spur student interest.

Originated only a year ago, the Oneirata has already gained much popularity among students interested in creative arts. This literary magazine, sponsored by Mrs. Regh, serves as a medium of expression for young writers of poetry, short stories, and essays. This organization is now able to meet in a room of its own to expedite the Oneirata's publication.

Using the silk screen process, the art staff hand-paints all magazine covers. Staff artists are responsible for all illustrations as well. Professionally printed for the first time this year, the Oneirata is being entered in the S.I.P.A. contest. The staff rates selections that are contributed through the creative writing and English classes.

Barry Kowalski sells the latest issue of Oneirata to Nelia Illemszky while Joe Shamburg and Rick Anholt read selections.

Selecting worthy material for Groveton's literary magazine are Bargon Bean, Ken Nelson, Jane DeBriyn, Stina Herrick, Andrew Kleinfeld, and Jeffrey Johnston.

Tigerama celebrates

Yearbook cubs, Bonnie Underhill, Nelia Illemszky, Lynn Beavers, Nikki Johnson, Gail Treiber, Kathy West, Carol Schmidtlein, Judy Price, Linda Kyles, Ruth Lynn Hooper, Sandra Kyles, Katie Beck, Mary Gayle Wynkoop, and Holly Krull, review five years of Tigerama.

After five serious snowstorms, Tigerama's 39 staff and cub members became accustomed to taking the yearbook home each evening—just in case! During the five years Tigerama has been published, workers have benefited from critical analyses of press associations such as the Columbia Scholastic, National Yearbook, and Southern Interscholastic Press Associations. Since the Second Place Certificate awarded by the Columbia Scholastic Press Association to the first edition, progress has become evident through the First Place awards presented to the '58 Tigerama, and the Medalist awards to the '59 and '60 annuals.

In June of 1960, eight staff workers learned fundamentals of copy, layout, and photography during a three-day course at Catholic University. To train staff members for work on Tigerama '62, two representatives attended the S.I.P.A. convention at Washington-Lee University on April 28 and 29.

Taking time out, staff members celebrated holiday events throughout the year. Exeitement mounted at the spring banquet, when the '62 staff was announced. With the distribution of yearbooks in June, students and faculty were able to recapture highlights of the year in the Anniversary Edition, 1961.

While planning the '61 yearbook, Carol Beale and Maureen Davies glance through the '59 book and admire the first place Virginia High School League trophy which it won, hoping that Tigerama '61 will do as well.

Due to congestion in the yearbook room, Sally Stebbins and Lois Sommerfeld move to a secluded corner of the building to read galleys of Tigerama '61.

1961 Staff goes to press;

Carol Beale and Miss Morris ask Mr. Charles Hunter of the Hunter Publishing Company to take the final pages of Tigerama '61 to Winston-Salem, N. C., for printing.

Joni Heller, Carol Beale, Jacki Potter, Maureen Davies, and Emily Leonard give a panel discussion on yearbook techniques for interested '62 applicants.

for TIGER RAG.

Forty-three industrious Grovetonites took part in editing and publishing nine monthly issues of the TIGER RAG, the school newspaper. An extra April Fool's Issue was a feature of this year's staff.

Beginning in the summer months and continuing through September, members canvassed local business areas in their advertisement campaign. Another fall project was the Subscription Drive, a "Package Deal" offer, including the TIGER RAG, TIGERAMA, and ONEIRATA. Individual subscriptions were also available, but not at the discount rates offered in the joint drive.

As an informative and entertaining publication, the TIGER RAG has stimulated student interest in the school. Outstanding achievements of Grovetonites were recognized and extra-curricular activities were promoted. The newspaper also served as an outlet for creative expression, and often encouraged constructive thinking.

in historic election year.

Accepting the many responsibilities of being a leader became a challenge at the 1961 Leadership Training Conference, which preceded the annual election of Student Council officers. From February 27 through March 6, prominent leaders engaged by the S.C.A. Orientation Committee lectured to interested students during study hall periods.

This clinic may have helped to prepare certain individuals for executive service not only to the school and community, but to the nation. As much emphasis had been placed upon the national election, many Grovetonites attended President John F. Kennedy's inauguration on January 20, and later the March 4 re-enactment of Abraham Lincoln's inauguration.

Though tremendous progress in transportation has been made during the past century, leaders such as S.C.A. President-elect, Carl White, strive to advance even more rapidly by facing other unsolved problems seriously.

As an integral part of Groveton's extracurricular opportunities, athletics have continued to be one of the chief promoters of school spirit and enthusiasm. Varsity, Junior Varsity, and Freshman cheerleaders, along with the Pep Club, furthered student support with lively cheers and team songs.

Initial Varsity and Junior Varsity sports of football, basketball, golf, track, and baseball were available to boys interested in interscholastic competition. In order to broaden the athletic program, wrestling was introduced in the fourth year, and tennis in the fifth. Varsity and Junior Varsity softball, hockey, and basketball were offered to girls as well. During 1960, Freshman sports replaced the former 8th grade athletics.

Groveton was the first school in Fairfax County to have its own cinder track, part of a complete athletic field with bleachers to accommodate 2500 spectators. In March, 1961, students sold light bulbs in a fund-raising campaign for field lights.

Five veterans have contributed to the strengthening of the sports' program. Along with Mr. Cunningham, director of athletics, Coaches Hess and Panagos, and Mrs. Jamey have strived to develop the potentialities of Groveton's sportsmen. Former Varsity football coach, Mr. Gibbs, now serves as principal.

Displaying co-operation and good sportsmanship, five members of the 1961 Varsity basketball squad symbolize the five years of Groveton's existence, when each student's development and achievement have contributed to the effective teamwork that is Groveton High School.

"Practice makes perfect" being their by-word, both the Varsity and Junior Varsity Cheerleading squads prepared all summer for the coming athletic seasons. These sixteen energetic girls strived earnestly to revitalize spirit in Tiger fans throughout the year.

Opening the gridiron campaign with traditional vitality, the Varsity, led by three officers with four years of experience, staged an outdoor pep rally in the football stadium. On the eve of Saturday games, with the aid of the pep band, the squad conducted other spirit-boosting sessions behind the gym.

These vibrant young girls bolstered enthusiasm by adorning goal posts with black and gold streamers, by putting up posters, and by wearing their uniforms prior to every Friday night game. Before the tournament, the Varsity squad sent an encouraging telegram to the basketball team.

Sponsor Carol Janney presented senior members with gold megaphones, mementos of their Varsity careers. Accenting the roundball season, the cheerleaders sported new uniforms, sharp and eye-appealing.

A beautiful afternoon welcomed Groveton's Varsity eleven on-field for the season's first football game, played with McLean. Although in contrast with the rainy Groveton-McLean football game of five years ago, the Tigers again lost to the Highlanders. However, spirits brightened with the first home game, when Groveton routed Lee 25-0. In the next encounter, arch-rival Mt. Vernon High retained the Mt. Vernon Kiwanis Bowl Trophy for the second consecutive year with its victory over the Tigers. In the Groveton-Madison game, Groveton's shutout proved to be the team's only other win of the year. At season's end, Groveton held a 2-7-1 record, including a 7-7 tie with Falls Church and the hard-fought Annandale game.

Mr. Gene Hess, assistant coach for the first four years, became head coach this season, and was assisted by Gus Fern.

Alexandria Gazette named halfback Lefty Everett to the All-Northern Virginia second team. At an awards assembly on January 4, the following boys reeeived trophies: Everett, offensive lineman; Mike Fuqua, defensive lineman; and Joe Shamburg, offensive back. Quarterback Bill Taylor was the reeipient of the Delaney trophy, awarded annually to the most improved player. Aaron Hook was voted the Sportsmanship Award.

Under the expert leadership of Coach Paul Duvall, assisted by Vern Canfield, the Junior Varsity football team rocketed to their third straight undefeated season.

Although ties with Lee and Annandale marred an otherwise perfect record, these two stalemates cost the Jayvees the Northern Virginia championship, which went to Wakefield. However, the team did capture the Fairfax County crown for the third year in a row.

Such a phenomenal accomplishment was characterized by desire, hustle, spirit, and excellent teamwork, which combined to produce a total of 104 points scored.

spirited, satisfying season.

During the 1960 season, the Varsity hockey team produced a 3-2-2 record, one of the best efforts yet. A 3-3 deadlock with Fairfax followed a 2-0 victory over Herndon, the season's opener. The Tigresses then fell victim to the Annandale eleven 3-0. After a 1-1 tie with Falls Church, Groveton scored two convincing defeats over Osbourn and Madison. In the season's finale, Mt. Vernon eked out a 1-0 win over the Varsity.

Selected Most Valuable Player by her teammates, halfback Palmira Betancourt concluded a four-year Varsity career; Roxanne McCauley received the Sportsmanship award. Junior center forward Patsy Schools led the scoring attack with nine tallies, followed by Donna Vance and Nancy Packer with two scores and one goal, respectively.

Even though few Junior Varsity players had had any previous hockey experience whatsoever, they compiled a 2-2-1 record. Herndon and Madison each defeated the team by one point. The Annandale game resulted in a tie. The Jayvees conquered Falls Church, and in the final encounter of the year, they had to stave off a last-minute rally by Mt. Vernon before shutting them out.

Placing second in Fairfax County and seventh in Northern Virginia, the Varsity hoopsters boasted a winning season under mentor Verne Canfield for the third straight year. In order to pull their record over the .500 mark, the cagers had to win four of their last five outings. Pitted against Mt. Vernon in tournament play, Marty Lentz & Co. defeated the Tigers for the third time in the roundball season.

Double wins over Stuart and Lee were especially significant; the Tigers knocked the Raiders from the unbeaten ranks, and Groveton extended its undefeated victory streak over the Lancers to six. Compiling a 11-9 record in regulation season play, the Varsity five beat nine of the fourteen different schools they faced at least once.

Because of near-equal abilities, starting line-ups were constantly changed; senior members, however, formed the nucleus of the squad. Sharpshooting Co-Captains John Neary and Jerry Coleman led the team that averaged over sixty points a game. Grabbing numerous rebounds, Jerry Bramley played a consistent and deliberate game. Forward Bart Frye, participating in competitive basketball at Groveton for the fifth year, performed versatilely. The picture of calmness on the court, Dave Mastran dumbfounded many an opponent with his skillful ball-stealing technique. Developing late in the season, center Doug Dann was instrumental in the Tigers' last-ditch spurt of energy.

"Get those rebounds!" J. V. players Pete Denitto (4), Ron Horn (34), Bob Stephens (52), and Ken Allen (30) react positively to yell by trouncing Atoms 66-37.

During his five seasons as Junior Varsity basketball coach, Mr. Gus Panagos has compiled an admirable 41-39 record. Duplicating last season's excellent effort, his 1961 all-Sophomore squad captured ten of sixteen encounters.

Starting slowly, the Jayvees dropped their first two outings to Hammond and George Washington, but rebounded by trouncing Madison; faltering slightly, however, they lost to Lee and Mt. Vernon. After the holidays, the Junior Tigers streaked past four easy opponents before losing to the always stiff Arlington County foes. In the last five clashes, only arch-rival Mt. Vernon could halt Groveton's determined dynamos. Appropriately, the Jayvees avenged the earlier defeats to both Alexandria teams.

In the contest with Osbourn, the squad set a school scoring record of 94 points, even though the second string played almost the entire game. Pumping in 182 tallies for the year, Pete Denitto became second only to Ray Fraley in total points scored in one J.V. season. Bob Stephens controlled the backboards throughout the year, and Rusty Shelton's steady playing made him another outstanding player.

Intramurals held during fall; bowlers form league.

Late fall afternoons found many students viewing intramural competition in gymnasium before departure of activities' bus.

For the first time, intramural basketball at Groveton was conducted in the fall rather than in the winter. The two six-team leagues played a weekly slate of games—the Senior Division on Mondays, and the Junior Division on Wednesdays.

Senior league consisted of upperclassmen and a few selected sophomores. Dave Mastran's team copped the Senior crown; John Neary topped all scorers. Jerry Coleman, Douglas Dann, Bart Fryc, and Don Williams were the remaining Senior captains.

Allen Koch's team captured Junior Division honors. Other Junior captains were: Jackie Stepp, Buddy Sellers, Wayne Berlo, Bob Stewart, and Brent Maupin.

Several students with a keen interest in bowling succeeded in having a league sanctioned by school authorities. Throughout the winter, eight teams of five boys each participated in bowling competition at Penn-Daw Coliseum.

Ten-pin bowling league members Ray Connor and Jerry Thiebolt keep accurate account of every pin.

"Strike!" Tom DeYoung waits anxiously to see if those last pins will topple over for a mark.

In their second year of Varsity competition, Groveton's matmen coached by Mr. Gus Fern compiled a 3-5 record. Grunt and groan boys from Osbourn, Lee, and Madison fell victim to the Tigers.

Winning seven matches, Captain John Lafley, wrestling in the 145 weight division, pinned six of his adversaries. Both Lafley and 139-pound Mike McKelvie placed fifth in the Northern Virginia Wrestling Tournament held February 17-18 at Wakefield. Gary Misenheimer, a 133 pounder, was another standout grappler.

Girls basketball teams'

With six returning lettermen as squad members, the Varsity girls' basketball team defeated only Lee and Madison. Of the seven losses, however, three were by one point. In the last game of the season, the County champs from Stuart barely squeaked by the Tigresses, who were playing without one first-string guard.

Although the entire first-string defensive unit of Carol Ernst, Maureen Davies, and Alexis Krumm returned from last year's squad, the offensive unit lacked experience and depth. Patsy Schools, in her third Varsity season, averaged a spectacular 18.7 points per game, but she had no other consistent forward to back her up.

With an identical 2-7 season, the Junior Varsity raced past Falls Church and Herndon. Forwards Barbara Tillette, Judy Nevitt, Lisa Dunn, and guards Bernice Brown, Eileen Hendricks, and Judy Gray, composed the J.V. first team.

up two early victories in bid for first division finish.

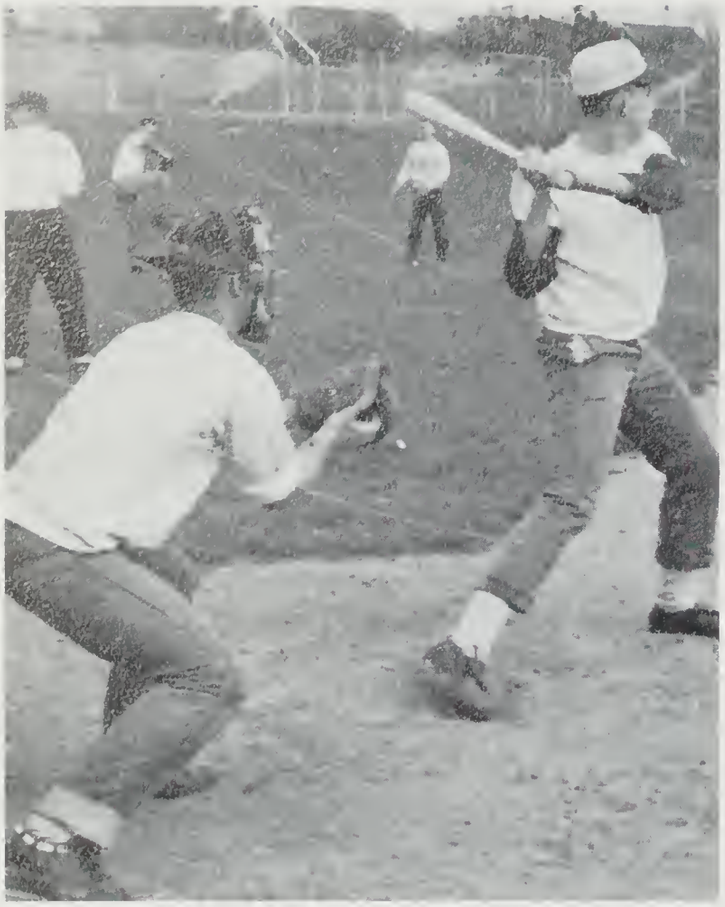
First sacker, Bart Frye, stretches for long heave from third.

Initiating the Varsity baseball season spectacularly, Coach Gus Panagos' diamond stars blasted Hammond pitchers for sixteen runs, allowing their Admiral adversaries only four tallies. The Tigers picked up their second straight win at the expense of the Madison nine; but in the next encounter McLean blanked Groveton 2-0.

With six lettermen returning, newcomers to Varsity ranks plugged holes left by '60 graduates; upperclassmen formed the squad for the most part.

Rated as one of the league's top hurlers, veteran Lefty Everett led not only the Tiger mound staff, but the hitting attack as well. Hard-hitting Bart Frye doubled as pitcher, when not holding down first base; Rick Anholt and Dennis Nase rounded out the pitching department. Jim Snyder, one of three Sophomore squad members, performed behind the plate. Rookie Pete Denitto filled the shortstop position, as Carl White and Dave Mastran played at the "keystone sack" and "hot corner," respectively. Fleet-footed outfielders, Fred Rowe, Bill Taylor, and Joe Shamburg, completed the 1961 Varsity nine.

Jayvees strive to equal two past Championship records.



While players warm-up, Gary Calhoun practices to raise batting average with Fred Walker catching behind the plate.

As Tigerama goes to press, the 1961 Junior Varsity Baseba llsquad faces the challenge of equalling performances by Groveton's '59 and '60 Fairfax County Championship teams. Depth at all positions could hold the key to another District crown for Coach Bill Jackson's charges, eight of whom are seasoned veterans. Mr. George Litman aided Mr. Jackson in the coaching of this talented squad.

Skillful infielders, Bob Stewart, Bob Stephens, Allen Koch, Harold Bair, Larry Perreault, and Gary Calhoun, formed the airtight defense. Rusty Shelton, Jim Houghton, and Doug Moore filled outfield posts. Relief pitchers Koch and Bill Reid spelled Bob Stewart and Wayne White, mainstays of the hill staff; Fred Walker and Joe Grula combined with these moundsmen to form Jayvee batteries.

Completing Groveton's athletic program, tennis and golf have provided an opportunity for adept netmen and linksmen to participate in interscholastic competition. As there is a lack of adequate facilities for these two minor sports, local country clubs obligingly supply this need.

Coach Canfield guided his tennis players through their initial "building year." As there were no seniors, the entire team will return next year. Golfers, under the direction of Mr. MacMillan, also experienced a "building year," for virtually all players were new.

GOLF TEAM—Marshall Soloman, Ken Person, John Choi, Bert Harding, John Neary, Beale Herndon, Herman Apple, Andy Kleinfeld, Coach MacMillan, Gary Glotfelty.

Freshman gridders win

FRESHMAN CHEERLEADING SQUAD — Susie Jones, Captain; Betty Britt, Co-Captain; Suzanne Vance, Secretary-Treasurer; Barbara Boyce; Christine Burney.

Alternate quarterbacks Dave Herrera and Marty Corso, who piloted inexperienced but eager Freshman squad against six sturdy opponents, practice hand-offs.

So that underclassmen athletics would not be neglected and so that eventual Varsity inter-scholastic competition would be strengthened, the County inaugurated a Freshman sports program.

Beginning and ending the year with a bang, Groveton's first Freshman football team proved victorious in the season's opener and finale. With the score tied 6-6 and only thirty seconds remaining in the final game with Madison, Dave Herrera swept right wing for the clinching touchdown in the play-of-the-year.

opener and finale; quintet romps to six victories.

After romping to five straight wins, the Freshman quintet dropped three of their last four outings, giving them a 6-3 record for the season. Averaging 55.8 points per game, the ninth graders outscored their foes by 170 points. Groveton formed an airtight defensive unit, losing to Madison, Annandale, and Herndon by a total of only twelve points.

Winkie Whalen led all scores; Tommy Storer made the most marked improvement, and Gary Calhoun, Tony Adams, and Dave Herrera rounded out the first string. Within a short time, these team members should put Groveton on the map as an even stronger basketball powerhouse.

Dave Herrera (10) scores on Lee, as Tony Adams (21), Gary Calhoun (24), and Winkie Whalen (20) stand by.

Leaping high off court, Gary Calhoun hits on a two-hand jump shot against Lancers.

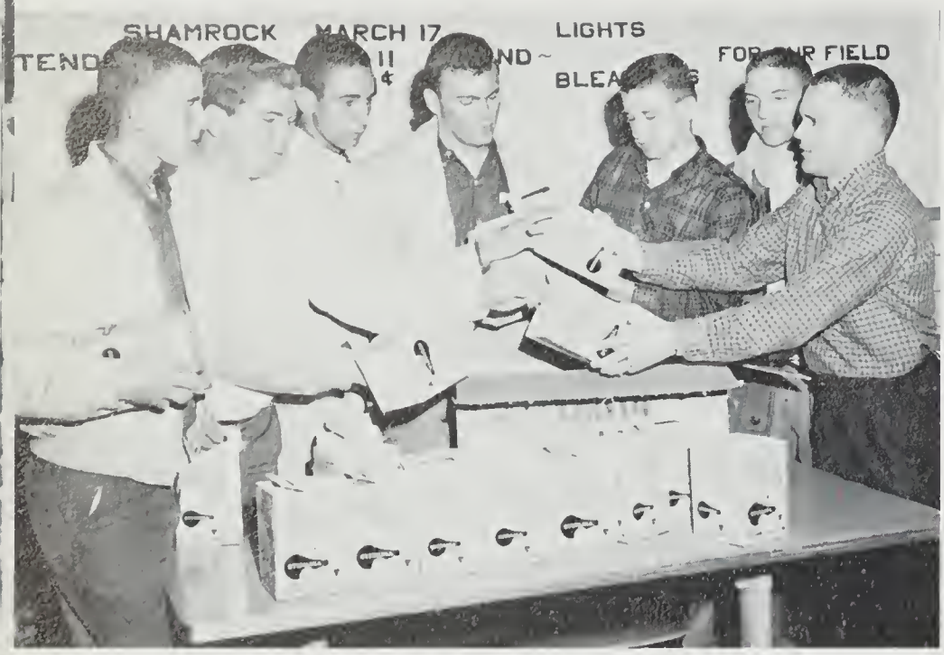
Coaches head lightbulb drive to finance field lights.



Mr. Hess distributes light bulb packs to team captains, Pete Denitto, Joe McLaughlin, Ed Flow, Tom Nuckols, Ken Pettit, Bo Davis.

To purchase "lights for football nights," several faculty members, among them the five coaches who have served Groveton all five years, conducted a 1961 Light Bulb Campaign. As veteran members of the Athletic Department, Coaches Panagos, Hess, Keely, Mrs. Janney, and Director Cunningham, promoted purchase of lights for the field to make it a first class gridiron.

Presented to the student body at an assembly held March 15, this project was a plan for students to sell two-dollar cartons of Sylvania lightbulbs in local communities. Each coach was in charge of a certain number of area captains, who were in turn responsible to the coaches. As Tigerama goes to press, sales total $8600, and are expected to surpass $9000 before the end of the campaign.

Leaving gymnasium office after long, hard day, Mr. Cunningham, athletic director, heads for home.

Competing in game of "horse," Mr. Panagos, ardent basketball enthusiast, attempts left hook shot.

Mr. Keely, announcer at basketball games, checks over starting lineup lists.

Mrs. Janney, head of Girls' P.E. department, co-ordinates curriculum.

Newly re-organized Pep Club boosts Groveton spirit.

"We've got the pep!" cried spirited Pep Club members during the year's athletic events. For all sports activities, the Pep Club helps lead students in supporting Groveton's teams. Members were easily recognizable in their white sweaters, sitting in a special section during football games, cheering along with the cheerleaders in support of the team.

Selling megaphones and providing bus transportation for those students unable to get to away games were only some of the club's worthwhile activities. Members published bulletins containing the traditional yells so as to acquaint students with the words to the cheers and thus, encourage more cheering at games. They sponsored a Pep Week in January to help arouse school spirit in Grovetonites. In that same month at the S.C.A. Club Co-ordination assembly, the Pep Club received its first charter.

Each individual gives this fifth anniversary of Groveton a special significance. An anniversary holds memories for those it represents; therefore, it is fitting that each individual consider how and with what objectives his school has grown.

As the first and foremost reason for attending school is to learn and to derive maximum benefits, the five most academically successful seniors set the example in reaching for the individual's highest goal—to achieve a standard of excellence. These seniors follow the path of other honor graduates, and at the same time, leave a challenge for others.

With an enrollment of 1000 students in 1956, Groveton's first classes ranged from the eighth to the eleventh grades. During the following three years there were five classes, eighth through twelfth. This fifth year, as a full-fledged senior high school, Groveton has four classes, freshman through senior years.

While the enrollment of each individual class has increased during the progressing years, the student body has matured, profiting from experience. With leadership from this year's senior class, of which 160 are "charter members," students have had opportunities to apply their own ideas toward the development of this new school.

These past five have been the formative years of Groveton, the years in which each individual participated in making this Wooden Anniversary memorable.

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS: Bart Frye, Secretary; Jack Tidwell, President; Don Williams, Reporter; Kenny Nelson, Senator; Molly Collins, Senator; Joan Price, Treasurer; Judy White, Vice-President; and Miss DeVault, Sponsor, meet informally in the living room of the Home Economics Department.

TIGERAMA salutes charter members on Five year service.

Five years ago, the Class of '61 received a challenge of great magnitude from the first staff of Tigerama. That challenge was "to continue to grow in mind, body, and spirit for the enrichment of Groveton High." Since the first year when these 342 eighth graders helped choose the tiger as school mascot, the school seal, song, and flag, 160 have remained to contribute continually to the success of Groveton.

To guide the first class completing all five years at Groveton, a "hand-picked" faculty of 50 was chosen not only to instruct, but to initiate clubs, sports and other activities; in brief, to organize and operate a new school. Twenty-three members of this faculty have remained faithfully to lead and constantly to observe Groveton's progress during each of the five years.

Because these 23 veteran faculty members and 160 "charter" seniors have been loyal supporters each year, the yearbook staff honors and salutes them with this fifth edition—the Anniversary issue of Tigerama.

As we in Alexandria, celebrate the 50th Anniversary of the Merchants Retail Association I send warm greeting to Groveton High School on the 5th Anniversary.

Leroy Bendheim,
Mayor of Alexandria

While Alexandria Retail Merchants Association celebrated its 50th Anniversary of service to the city and county, Groveton High School celebrated its 5th Anniversary of service to young people of the vicinity. As Alexandria's older and more firmly established businesses have contributed to the continued prosperity of this metropolitan area, so has each year added to Groveton's experience in giving students opportunities to known and understand. Groveton is also comparable to new business ventures, for it is a new school, that has only begun to excel and develop its potentialities.

In 1956, Tigerama members set out for the first time as representatives of this new school to sell advertising space. They soon discovered that it was necessary to sell not only ads, but the school as well. Because Groveton had just opened, merchants knew nothing of its existence but after being introduced became interested.

Tigerama representatives this year were able to offer telephone supplements which listed addresses and phone numbers of supporting businesses. These lists, which were sent to every student subscriber, boosted local establishments as well as the prestige of Groveton High.

Appropriately representing the merchant's anniversary, the cake is a bright and enticing center of attention for the highest ad salesmen. But these perservering workers have accomplished more than selling advertisements; they have succeeded in maintaining a tradition of mutual support and understanding. So long as the businesses continue to satisfy the people's needs, Groveton High will exist to educate and produce firm citizens.

Dinner and program kick off successful ad drive.

Jackie Potter and Carolyn Conway enthusiastically compare their ad territories after the dinner.

TIGERAMA members' initiative for selling yearbook advertising space to nearby businessmen originated at the fifth annual Ad Banquet held at Cedar Knoll, on September 21, 1960. After a delicious dinner served buffet style, Ann diZerega, editor of the 1958 TIGERAMA, sparked members' enthusiasm in publishing the '61 edition. She included learning yearbook techniques and meeting deadlines as highlights of her message.

Emily Leonard, Advertising manager, next presented the plans for the Advertising Drive of 1960. Two teams, the Corvettes and the T-Birds were organized to compete in selling as many advertisements as possible. Competition was also on an individual basis. At the end of the Ad Drive, the losing team was to give a party for the winning one. With the distribution of ad envelopes, a skit illustrating salesmanship techniques concluded the delightful banquet.

TIGERAMA extends deep appreciation to supporters.

Since the fall of September, 1956, when the first Tigerama staff enthusiastically set out to publish the first Tigerama of Groveton's history, the evident signs of progress have been a result of the consistent efforts of all staffs. These diligent workers have set the high standards that are necessary for a good yearbook. The criticisms made by press associations have also been invaluable in helping us to improve.

Without the great personal interest the Hunter Publishing Company has shown, no amount of of ambition would have produced a Tigerama reflecting the spirit that is Groveton. It has been a pleasure dealing with Mr. Williams of Duke Camera Shop and Mr. Deal of La Mont Studios, both of whose special trips have so often helped us meet deadlines. Our appreciation is extended to Mrs. Babb, who has carefully handled our finances during the past five years. Each year we have anticipated calling on the business firms in the Alexandria area and furthering the fine relationships that have been established.

We greatly appreciate the interest and cooperation the faculty and students have consistently given Tigerama through the phases of school life in which they participate.

All of these people have contributed to the daily progress that must be made during a yearbook's production. Yet the enthusiastic leadership, invaluable experience, and loyalty of Miss Morris, five-year sponsor of Tigerama, have proved the very backbone to yearbook workers' efforts. We, the '61 staff, take this opportunity to thank sincerely our sponsor and all those who have served in producing five successful editions of Tigerama.

I think that I shall never see
A poem lovely as a tree.
A tree whose hungry mouth is prest
Against the sweet earth's flowing breast;
A tree that looks at God all day,
And lifts her leafy arms to pray;
A tree that may in summer wear
A nest of robins in her hair.
Upon whose bosom snow has lain
Who intimately lives with rain
Poems are made by fools like me,
But only God can make a tree.

—Joyce Kilmer

In this Fifth Anniversary, Groveton High School has had the opportunity to realize its endeavors to achieve and excel as a place of group instruction and individual development. Because of active participation and a desire for excellence, school organizations and academic departments may frequently boast of recognition for outstanding achievement.

In the spring of 1961, the five Editors-in-chief of Tigerama paid a last tribute to the first five years by selecting five trees for the school grounds. These trees were planted to symbolize not only past growth, but inevitable future growth. Just as these trees will take root and flourish with life, so will Groveton continue to develop the tree of knowledge.

Although the school will meet success only to encounter new problems and challenges, Groveton must answer to the future, as it has in the past. The five snow scenes pictured on the end sheets illustrate the strength of a tree's strong roots. Groveton must stand equally firm upon the high principles its students and faculty have established. In their glorious bloom, the cherry blossoms enhance the branches of the tree just as the honors and achievements of Groveton exalt it as a place of learning.

As Groveton's Fifth Anniversary comes to a close, the Staff of Tigerama '61 sincerely hopes that future staffs will continue this tree-planting tradition in order to make a tangible contribution that will represent the essence of each year's growth—the essence of life. Because this gift is universally present within each person at Groveton, this fifth edition bids each individual to use life to transform each year, each month, each day into an occasion as memorable as this Wooden Anniversary.

Pat,
It has been a wonderful thing in homeroom and Mrs. C's English class. I have learned a lot — in that class and had fun crossed that finish line — Best of luck for a successful future. Hope to see you next year.
Love,
Mary Jo Burton

On a rainy Good Friday afternoon the five Tigerama editors went to Campbell & Ferrara to select trees to be planted on the school grounds. Carol Beale admires a Japanese Cherry with her predecessors. Anne diZerega, '58 Editor, Ginnie Pierce, '60; Kay Barret, '59; Susanna Palmer, '57.
